

I ask that any further relaxation of the ownership rules be shelved, as current relaxed levels have been quite disastrous for community service and diversity. We simply cannot rely on radio and television anymore for community service, and it's frustrating when all programming decisions are done remotely, without concern for local interests and tastes.

Please return ownership levels back to some sane level, as to encourage diversity and competition, and in the interest of community service.

Local voices need to be heard. Communities need to be served. We, the Citizens of the United States, need to be able to trust and rely on our media in case of emergencies or urgent public issues.

Please, for all that is American, give us back our public airwaves.
